
PYTHAGORAS' POST

TODAY'S NEWS

The birth of Perseus has been an amazing moment in history. The King Acrisius of Argos was rumoured to have been warned by an oracle that he would be killed by a son born to his daughter Danae. After finding this out he locked his daughter up into a tower 24/7, according to an eye witness on the scene, it looked as if a shower of Midas' tears was raining down on her. And magically Danae fell pregnant soon after. Her new son Perseus emerged a few months later. This miraculous birth maybe the result of godly interference, though there is no direct evidence at this time. Soon after discovering the birth of his grandson, Acrisius allegedly had them tied up and sent out to sea to drown.

THE GORGONS GOSSIP

After landing on the island of Seriphos Perseus grew up into a fine young man as he was under the care of a kind fisherman names Dictys.

However in the meanwhile, King Polydectes had an inflamed passion for Danae.

However when Polydectes requested her hand in marriage Danae denied him.

She confessed that she didn't wish for his marriage. Polydectes believed that the presence of Perseus was the obstacle that denied Danae to pass through and believed he was the reason she said no. So Polydectes made a plan to rid of Perseus for Danae's hand. Don't forget that this all happened while Perseus was at the most beautiful party with Dictys his new friend.

THE GORGONS GOSSIP

Then the brave hero decided to go and kill Medusa who I believe didn't deserve to die because she did nothing wrong to Perseus did she?? Well I guess it wasn't really Perseus' fault.

Well Perseus was supplied winged sandals (which were possessed), a shoulder bag (kibisis) and the helmet of Hades (this made him invisible). After that Hermes armed him with the harpe (a sickle made of adamant). Then Perseus set off to kill our beautiful sister, who I repeat didn't deserve to die that day, but whatever. Perseus had a plan which he carried out, he rose up on his winged sandals and chopped our sisters head off. Out of her head sprung a winged horse (a pegasus) and a chrysoar (a boar with wings of an eagle). My beautiful sister dead. Me and Stheno tried to chase Perseus however every time we got close he vanished. I wished we could have avenged her.

PRETTY GIRL GONE GRUESOME

ANDROMEDA'S ARTICLE

An interview up close with Andromeda.

So what is your mother like? My mother [Cassiopeia] claimed that she was more beautiful than the sea nymphs

That must have made them angry? Yes it did

What happened after then? Poseidon flooded my home [Ethiopia] and released a vicious sea monster to attack our fishing boats.

What happened then? An oracle informed my father that if he exposed me to the monster he would be cured.

So what what did your father do? Of course he would put me up to the monster for his own health.

What happened after that? Then I saw the most charming man I have ever seen. He was absolutely amazing. He walked past and we met eyes, it was like a comet flew past as we stared blankly at each other.

How did you get his attention then? I then shouted help as loud as I could and by magic he turned the monster to stone.

Do you know what he did? No I don't know how he did it.

What happened when the monster was gone? The water was calm and retreated back into the ocean I could finally meet the love of my life.

What did the water look like? The water even seemed to dance as it retreated as if it was a soldier retreating from no mans land in the war after knowing it was a mistake.

Finally what was the wedding like? The wedding was beautiful and the swans smiled and laughed at the joyful occasion

THE FABULOUS FINALE

While our hero was out having the time of his life Danae was raped by Polydectes. This was not good news for Perseus who ran back with Andromeda and turned Polydectes to stone and turned him in to Dictys. Then Perseus returned the items he borrowed and went off to find his grandfather. I forgot to mention this earlier but now Perseus remembered that he killed his grandfather and wasn't allowed back in Argos. Because of this Perseus had to switch places with Megapenthes who was his cousin. This made Megapenthes into the king of Argos and Perseus became the king of Tiryns. Then Perseus opposed the introduction of the cult of Dionysus and fought Dionysus and won by drowning him in a lake. After killing Dionysus he killed Ariadne in the same battle.
